

Understanding Agricultural Policy in Europe

Practical seminar on Common Agriculture Policy will be May 28-29, 2008, at the Lloyd's Maritime Academy in London.

The objective of this established seminar is to give participants a comprehensive but accessible introduction to the Common Agricultural Policy, with a focus on all of the CAP's key policy instruments. The seminar is as suitable for complete beginners as it is for those who wish to deepen or update their knowledge of the CAP and how it fits into the wider EU and global agri-food economy.

Our friendly, expert presenters will place emphasis on explaining in clear, non-technical language how the policy works in practice. Important recent developments and current issues are assessed in context, and there are plenty of opportunities for questions and discussion.

The seminar has been fully revised and now includes briefings on:

- The Single Farm Payment and the impact of decoupling
- Prospects for the future reform of the CAP
- Rural development policy and prospects for increases in modulation

- Biofuels - feedstock production incentives and commodity markets

- Specific commodity markets including sugar, dairy, cereals and oilseeds

- EU institutions and the decision-making process

Each seminar delegate receives an exclusive seminar manual. This detailed guide to the CAP serves as a handy reference manual for participants to keep.
